Individual departments/programs/disciplines, with the approval of the vice president of the Learning Division, may have requirements that are more stringent. In very specific circumstances, an appeal of the policy may be addressed to the head of the department in which the course was taken. If further action is warranted, the appeal may be addressed to the vice president of the Learning Division.

B. Academic Dishonesty:

Academic misconduct committed either directly or indirectly by an individual or group is subject to disciplinary action. Prohibited activities include but are not limited to the following practices:
• Cheating, including but not limited to unauthorized assistance from material, people, or devices when taking a test, quiz, or examination; writing papers or reports; solving problems; or completing academic assignments.
• Plagiarism, including but not limited to paraphrasing, summarizing, or directly quoting published or unpublished work of another person, including online or computerized services, without proper documentation of the original source.
• Purchasing or otherwise obtaining prewritten essays, research papers, or materials prepared by another person or agency that sells term papers or other academic materials to be presented as one’s own work.

2. Make-up Work - In the event of an absence, students must use their own initiative to secure lecture notes, assignments, and other information that might have been covered during the class period.
3. Cell Phones - Please make sure all cell phone ringers are turned off during class periods. Taking or making calls during scheduled class time is not appropriate unless the instructor has prior knowledge of a critical or sensitive situation that may warrant an immediate response.
4. Internet - Checking e-mail or surfing the web during class is not an appropriate use of scheduled instructional time unless it relates to a specific assignment for this class.
5. Music/MP3 players - Listening to music or any recorded material not specifically related to subject matter being taught in this class is not appropriate during scheduled class time.
