INTRODUCTION TO MASS COMMUNICATION
COMM 1010
(formerly CMN 1500, formerly CMN 1020)

Class Hours: 3.0  Credit Hours: 3.0
Laboratory Hours: 0.0  Date Revised: Fall 2013

Catalog Course Description:
This course provides an overview of human, mass, and mediated communication. It includes an introduction to finding, organizing, and evaluating information.

Entry Level Standards:
A knowledge of basic high school English composition is expected of students entering COMM 1010. The student should be familiar with the basic rules of outlining and research. The student should also be aware of his personal, social, and political environment. Each student should be prepared to purchase several newspapers and magazines through the semester. Typing is required, although the student may utilize a typing service. However, the student will remain responsible for the quality of work turned in. Unless otherwise specified, all assignments must be typed.

Prerequisites:
While no pre-requisites exist for COMM 1010, a student with deficiencies in English grammar and composition should consider completing Freshman Composition before taking COMM 1010.

Textbook(s) and Other Course Materials:
No text required. Material on exams will be covered in class.

IV. Evaluation:

A. Testing Procedures:

   There will be at four exams and a final as well as several short paper assignments. Quizzes may be given at the discretion of the instructor.

B. Laboratory Expectations:

   Some papers may be accompanied by short presentations. A team project for presentation may be assigned.

C. Field Work:

   Instructor may assign required attendance at media-related events or activities, or interviews with media personnel, perhaps accompanied by a report on such.

D. Other Evaluation Methods:

   Since much of the learning methodology involves discussion and interaction, the instructor's evaluation of the student’s participation will also be part of the final grade.

V. Policies:

A. Attendance Policy:

   Pellissippi State expects students to attend all scheduled instructional activities. As a minimum, students in all courses (excluding distance learning courses) must be present for at least 75 percent of their scheduled class and laboratory meetings in order to receive credit for the course. Individual departments/programs/disciplines, with the approval of the vice president of Academic Affairs, may have requirements that are more stringent. In very specific circumstances, an appeal of the policy may be addressed to the head of the department in which the course was taken. If further action is warranted, the appeal may be addressed to the vice president of Academic Affairs.

   Because the communication discipline and this course are built on interaction, and media studies involve skill development, the attendance requirements are more stringent. The equivalent of two weeks of unexcused absences are permitted without a grade penalty. One more absence will reduce the final grade by one letter. More than three weeks of absences for any reason will result in a failing grade. A tardy counts as half of an absence; leaving early counts as an absence.

B. Academic Dishonesty:

   Academic misconduct committed either directly or indirectly by an individual or group is subject to disciplinary action. Prohibited activities include but are not limited to the following practices:
   • Cheating, including but not limited to unauthorized assistance from material, people, or devices when taking a test, quiz, or examination; writing papers or reports; solving problems; or completing academic assignments.
• Plagiarism, including but not limited to paraphrasing, summarizing, or directly quoting published or unpublished work of another person, including online or computerized services, without proper documentation of the original source.
• Purchasing or otherwise obtaining prewritten essays, research papers, or materials prepared by another person or agency that sells term papers or other academic materials to be presented as one’s own work.
• Taking an exam for another student.
• Providing others with information and/or answers regarding exams, quizzes, homework or other classroom assignments unless explicitly authorized by the instructor.
• Any of the above occurring within the Web or distance learning environment.

Please see the Pellissippi State Policies and Procedures Manual, Policy 04:02:00 Academic/Classroom Conduct and Disciplinary Sanctions for the complete policy.

C. Accommodations for disabilities:

Students that need accommodations because of a disability, have emergency medical information to share, or need special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated should inform the instructor immediately, privately after class or in her or his office. Students must present a current accommodation plan from a staff member in Services for Students with Disabilities (SSWD) in order to receive accommodations in this course. Services for Students with Disabilities may be contacted by sending email to disabilityservices@pstcc.edu, or visiting Goins 127, 132, 134, 135, 131. More information is available at http://www.pstcc.edu/sswd/.
