Tom Gaddis, program coordinator for Business Administration, Hospitality concentration presented additional information regarding the proposed Culinary Arts program. Mr. Gaddis has reviewed the master syllabi and considered the questions raised during the October 22 meeting. Some of the points discussed by Mr. Gaddis are as follows:

- The Culinary Arts classes will be similar to the classes offered at the University of Tennessee.
- Classes will begin as lecture and move to a lab setting.
- If TBR approves the Culinary Arts program, a description will be included in the new PSCC catalog which goes to publication December 5.
- The prerequisites for the first two courses have been removed because they are fast track.
- The Culinary Arts syllabi will be reviewed next semester in CDC.

The attendance policy was discussed again. PSCC policy states students must be present for 75% of the class but instructors have the liberty to set stricter standards as approved by individual departments. Faculty senate did not want to discuss changing the attendance policy.

Ms. Gosch has received the WEB curriculum and will send them out to CDC for review.
