Library Enters New Millennium

Pellissippi State's library is in the process of moving to a new library information system called Millennium from Innovative Interfaces International.

Library users will begin to experience the new system in mid-May when the online catalog and all circulation services move to Millennium. While the interface to the new catalog will have a different look, access to resources will be the same as that provided by the current system.

Due to system implementation during the week immediately following the end of spring semester (May 8-12), the library will need to ask all users to return library materials by the last day of the semester, May 4. We will be unable to renew books for either students or faculty during the interim between spring semester and summer session as we normally do.

Millennium should be in place and all library services functioning normally by the first day of summer session. —Jean Jackson, Circulation Librarian
