

Pellissippi State Community College as an institution of higher education must preserve conditions that permit a proper environment for learning and working. Students, faculty, and staff may not bring minors to campus, except for acceptable visitation purposes. Minors may not be cared for on the campus while their parent(s) or guardian(s) is in class or engaged in other college business. Neither may a minor be left unsupervised.

In certain circumstances, minors may be on campus for classes/activities held for their benefit (summer camps, etc.). At such times, it is expected that the instructor or responsible adult will supervise the activities of the minors and that before and after the class an area will be designated for the minors to await parents' arrival. It is the responsibility of the supervisor/instructor of these activities to explain restrictions to minors and to enforce the policy when necessary.
