

The mission of the Engineering and Media Technologies department, in support of the College's mission, is to provide quality career-technical programs that meet the broad spectrum of community needs as well as provide training and workforce development.